General Information

Course Code: ANSC-4710

Course Title: Research in Animal Biology II

Course Description:

This course provides an opportunity for students to become more actively involved in specific research topics in a discipline of their choosing. The student will work closely with an individual faculty advisor and be part of their research team working on a project of mutual interest. This course allows the student to review current literature and analyze lab data and/or design new protocols to further research knowledge. This course follows ANSC*4700, Research in Animal Biology I and can be done in the same semester.

Credit Weight: 0.5

Academic Department (or campus): Department of Animal BioSciences

Campus: Guelph

Semester Offering: Fall, Winter, Spring

Class Schedule and Location:

There is no class. Students work closely with their research project advisor.

Course Content

This course is very unique in that the content depends upon the area of research chosen by the student in conjunction with the research advisor. During the course of the semester, the student will explore research in their chosen area of research and in conjunction with the research advisor, follow through on a research proposal developed in ANSC-4700. The research proposal should represent a research project that can be accomplished in a single semester. It is possible to enroll in both ANSC-4700 and ANSC-4710 in a single semester. In that situation, you will review the literature, propose a project, conduct the research and analyze the results.

To complete the course requirements, students will write a research paper on their work and present a poster at the end of the semester. The student is expected to incorporate aspects of their literature review and research proposal from ANSC-4700 in the paper for ANSC-4710.

Specific Learning Outcomes:

At the completion of this course, you, the student will have had the unique opportunity to explore an individual research project and achieve these learning outcomes:

- 1) Develop an understanding of the literature in a specific field of interest to you,
- 2) Further develop written communication skills,
- 3) Further develop oral and visual presentation skills,
- 4) Obtain research experience

Course Assignments and Tests:

Assignment or Test	Due Date	Contribution to Final Mark (%)	Learning Outcomes Assessed
Research paper	A paper that is graded by the research advisor due date see below)	75%	1, 2, 4
Poster presentation	A scientific poster presented to the Department of Animal Biosciences (December 8, 2017) and graded by the Course Coordinator	25%	3

The grade for the final report is due to the course coordinator one day before the grade deadline set by the Registrar's Office. This date is set during the semester but typically will be the day before the final due date for grades, about 2 weeks after exams start. Check with the Course Coordinator for the exact date once the Registrar's Office has released them. The student and the research advisor should mutually agree upon the due date for the final report to ensure that the research advisor can submit the grade in time.

Course Policies

Grading Policies: Missed or Late Final Papers:

The report deadline is defined by mutual agreement between the research advisor and student. The research advisor and the student can mutually agree to modify the deadline if needed. If the grade is not provided in time to meet the Registrar's Grade deadline (see above), the grade will need to be resolved through the incomplete grade system in the Registrar's Office. Obviously, this is not a good way to end the semester. Therefore, every effort should be made to complete the course requirements before the final grade deadline.

Grading Policies: Missed or Late Poster Presentation:

The poster presentation is scheduled by the Course Coordinator to coincide with the end of classes or early during the exam schedule at a mutually agreeable time. Students with a valid academic conflict can make other arrangements with the Course Coordinator to present the poster at a different time. If a student misses their scheduled presentation time and has not contacted the Course Coordinator, the University's requirements for documentation of academic consideration come into play (see below).
